WEDDING AND EVENT SPACE

Where it all Began

Kay and Matt knew from the moment they saw the Barn back in 2013 how much potential it had and after 3 years of renovating and giving the Barn some much needed TLC, they launched the business in 2017 and kicked it off with our first wedding in May that year.

The wish all along was to provide a personal approach to arranging our couples' big day

We pride ourselves on making your day the best it can be: from initial planning through to adding the final on the day personal touches. Our small, dedicated team of experienced Event Coordinators are on hand to guide you through the process ensuring your day runs seamlessly.

We do not believe that couples should be confined by restrictive wedding packages, that's why we allow every element of your wedding day to be completely bespoke. We pride ourselves on being an event planning, award winning venue, allowing your overall experience with us to be seamless and worry free! From your initial viewing, right up until you whisk off on your honeymoon, the Alswick team are by your side. We love getting to know the couples we work with, understanding their personalities and vision, and feel very honoured to be part of your wedding day. We are proud of our beautiful venue and would love to share it with you, your friends and loved ones.

Having a small, close knit team means you are always going to have contact with the same handful of coordinators, giving you the continuous support from a familiar face. We will get to know you, family, and friends throughout the journey, allowing you to feel you can come and chat to us about anything and know that we will always give our honest advice and opinions to aid towards making the best overall decisions for your day. Any questions you feel are 'too silly' to ask, we promise we have heard it all before!

We will liaise with your suppliers, contact your caterers, and put together a detailed wedding day schedule. But most importantly, deal with any last-minute wardrobe malfunctions, help you to the loo or quickly removing that drink stain from your wedding dress! These extra touches go an exceptionally long way and really do speak volumes as all our wonderful past couples still continue to come back and see us time and time again, introducing us to new family members or simply for a glass of fizz and a catch up. We truly do love being a part of your big day and making sure you have the 'best day ever' is always at the fore front of our minds.

The Alswick Barn

A delightfully elegant setting for your special day, the Barn itself offers a beautiful blank canvas for your wedding dreams. Inside, a vaulted ceiling adorned with rustic wooden beams is married to a light-flooded function space perfect for any style of celebration.

The space below allows you to add your own ideas for those all important touches.

Your Special Day

The Dressing Room

The perfect space for a little you time! Our spacious, luxurious Dressing Room where you can pamper in preparation for your special day. Enjoy the relaxed stunning space and enjoy those all-important hours running up to the "I dos" while knowing the team here at the barn have everything in hand.

The intimate, beamed suite offers you a private sanctuary for make-up & hair to be finalised, ensuring your day continues as it has started.

The spaces allow for your photographer to capture those all-important "finishing touches and special moment's" of the day. Once your guests have arrived and you're ready to go, there is just a short walk into the barn for your ceremony to begin.

Your Ceremony, Your Way

With a licence for civil ceremonies, you can choose to hold your ceremony in The Barn at Alswick - and because it is so flexible, the set up can be as unique as you are!

Have your pick of spots to take your vows; tie the knot in the beautiful full height glass entrance hall, with your guests seated in the courtyard surrounded by up-lit trees, or walk down the aisle inside the stunning barn, where we have taken great care to harness and preserve the traditional character of the old farm building, whilst giving it a contemporary revamp.

Time to Mingle

End your ceremony with a flurry of confetti before you roll into your canapé and drinks reception. With the choice of our three wonderful caterers and a fabulous variety of drinks packages, you can tailor the all-important food and drink to your guests and the style of your day. In amongst the mingling, this time is the perfect opportunity to slip away for some photographs.
